This Month at Twin Oaks Branch ...

Board with Books

July 22, 5:30 PM

ALL Ages Welcome

Do you love playing board games? Then come to Board with Books!

A wide range of modern and traditional board games are available to play. Come and learn something new or bring a personal favorite and teach someone else how to play!

Library Groovaroo

July 5 & 19, 10:30 AM

It doesn't matter how you dance, just how you feel while you're dancing. The library invites you to Groovaroo Dance, a safe and judgement-free fitness program that fosters love connectedness, and fun.

Classes are tailored for caregivers with babies from pre-birth through baby wearing years. (or as long as the baby is comfortable being worn). However, anyone is welcome to attend.

Please bring your own ergonomic-2-shoulder carrier where your baby can face in, heart to heart. Comfortable cool clothes for you and your baby are recommended.

Library Love Story Workshop

July 31, 6 PM

These workshops are to encourage and help people who want to submit a story about how the library changed their lives. We'll be collecting stories from the community through the summer and fall; and selected stories will be featured on KUT airwaves, plus the Mayor's Book Club Headline Event.

Adult Story Hour

July 11, 7 PM ASL Interpreter at Event

Theme: Totally Awkward

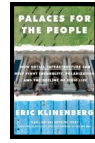

Tell a five minute story. Truth, fiction, funny, serious - read, memorized, or remembered - listen to and share stories about life, fantasy or yourself. Enjoy a new theme at each event! This month's theme is Totally Awkward.

Adults (17 and up) only. Registration recommended - follow link online: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/adult-story-hour-totally-awkward-tickets-63005934446?aff=ebdsbdestsearch>

Social Justice Book Club

July 25, 6:30 PM

Book: On Antisemitism

Social Justice & Civic Engagement Book Club. This new program series has been curated to encourage all community members to become well informed on critical issues of disparity, inequity and difference. We hope to challenge the feelings of apathy and fear on important political issues through facilitated dialogue and a facts based approach to civic engagement. Books truly do have the power to raise consciousness and help us become more effective advocates for social uplift and justice both locally and beyond.

Cosmic Crafts & Cuddles

July 19, 7 PM

Let your work stress melt away as you cuddle some of the cutest low-allergy animals in Austin with Tiny Tails to You and their adorable petting zoo. Waiting for a cuddle? Artist Melanie Gray will teach you to paint other-worldly art using space stencils, acrylic paint, and a pocket-size canvas. All supplies will be provided to participants. Hand sanitizer and mats are provided at the petting zoo (for guests worried about their clothing).

RSVP on Eventbrite (link will be posted at a later date) and show your ticket at the door to gain entry. A wait list will be available on location. Be aware that space is limited and will fill up fast - RSVP does not guarantee entry.

Participation is strictly limited to those 18 and up. Free parking is available in the Library parking lot. ASL interpreters are available at this event.

Unicorn University

July 13, 12 PM & 3 PM

Theme: Felt Flowers and Succulents

Unicorn University is a series of programs to educate the community about how to use the Circuit Maker, the different materials that can be used with the maker, and the various projects that can be completed with this machine.

Each class is limited to 10 participants and you must sign up on Eventbrite <https://unicornuniversity2019.eventbrite.com>

Teens and adults only.

Scentsational Science

July 20, 12:30 PM

The Twin Oaks Library invites adults & children of all ages to Scentsational Science. Join us as we explore the wonders of chemistry, and experiment with hands on materials to make cool concoctions such as fizzy bath bombs, bubbling face masks, mosaic soap sculptures, ex-foliating face scrubs, & healing lip balms. Casey's New Orleans Snowballs will also be available for purchase at the library to help us stay cool & refreshed on this awesome Saturday library.austintexas.gov | Free and open to the public
